SOLUTION

Part of BluJay Solutions' Global Trade Network, MessageBroker is deployed on a SaaS/Cloud basis as standard, with an on-premise model also available to suit specific requirements. Easy configuration and standard processes get you up and running quickly, realizing both benefits and ROI.

MessageBroker is designed to connect the supply chains of all types of businesses, and is particularly suitable for those with large number of trading partners, e.g., retail and manufacturing sectors.

The open and flexible framework is designed to be tailored through standard configuration to suit your collaborative order fulfillment and control processes. Fully managed by BluJay Solutions, it eliminates the need to train and maintain EDI skills in-house.

BluJay Solutions' team of experts work with you to analyze your requirements in detail. All communication interfaces, trading partners, message types, message specifications, business intelligence needs, and business processes are set up and managed to your exact requirements.

Connect to any external system or partner - no need to implement and maintain B2B communications software or manage contracts with third parties to exchange files with partners.

Convert data to any standard or proprietary format, with complete translation services for all major international implementations of EDI and XML data standards, as well as proprietary formats using a powerful "any to any" data transformation engine and comprehensive mapping tools.

Control your data through events and alerts management without the overhead of analyzing or managing the data internally

Collaborate with your business partners by sharing management information and reporting via the MessageBroker Viewer.

MessageBroker will help you unlock the power of your network by extending the use of electronic trading beyond the traditional boundaries and allowing you to look at the full 360-degree supply chain. Transform your economics by increasing efficiencies and removing reliance on internal systems and resource. MessageBroker also helps achieve greater velocity with faster implementation times, rapid response to issues, and a faster exchange of information –ultimately enabling you to see beyond the horizon by having full visibility of all your transactions.
